

Sustainable Strategies

Trusted advisors on your sustainability journey.

Sustainability and climate change work requires collaboration across industries and guidance from skilled, multi-disciplinary practitioners - that's where we come in! In today's market, you need support from a diverse business that understands both the risks and the opportunities, and can translate among diverse stakeholders. We are translators and bridge builders that drive deeply sustainable outcomes.

We help our clients...

- Where to start: we get it, sustainability can be overwhelming; we have the skills to get you started on your journey, and take it to the next level.
- Healthy building strategies: develop sustainable and inclusive office spaces that foster health and wellness. We leverage the latest research to create spaces that employees love and where everyone can thrive!
- Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG): the business of business is changing, and we help our clients identify key priorities, risks, and opportunities, so they can successfully navigate this new business metric.
- Commercial leases: not sure if your lease supports your sustainability / ESG goals? We help our clients revise commercial leases to foster collaboration between owners and tenants around common ESG goals.
- Stakeholder engagement: authentic storytelling and framing that reduces the risk of greenwashing.

What are "Healthy Building" strategies?

On average, we spend 90% of our time indoors, where levels of common pollutants can be 2-5x higher. Healthy building strategies can, among other things, support cognitive performance and strategic decision-making.

Our superpowers

- Apply 10+ years of legal and strategic risk management experience to identify issues, before they become problems.
- Help clients move past the overwhelm and towards actionable, accountable sustainability plans.
- Partner with other consultants, or existing teams, as an external expert.
- Already have an existing team? Great! The research is clear that diverse teams perform better; we love leveraging our skills to create successful, lasting partnerships.
